Student Name:	Fransiskus (Gerry) Gerry
Name of Activity:	Making a Simple Video Game
Dates:	Aug 19, 2015 to Dec 30, 2015
Activity Description:	I love video games ever since before primary. I remembered the first video game I played which is the very first Gran Turismo and Harvest Moon. All the good days where the games are simple but fun, up until now with the presence of modern games that needs an utterly unnecessary amount of processing and graphics power. Not to mention the memory needed to even store temporary and permanent game data. But moving on from the random tech stuff, I am thinking about making a simple video game collaboratively using Python script (Notepad++ needed) and Pygames. I wanted to make this type of video game because I want to experience making a game starting from scratch. Not the way I did with my Personal Project where I used a pre-programed engine to design levels and alter the AI. I want to try to start from the very bottom, meaning starting from scripting the actual game using the actual scripting language. I think this is going to really boost my understanding of how hard it is to even make a simple game. So my plan is to collaborate with Aldi and Amadeo to make a simple video game about preserving the forests of earth or rather preventing deforestation. Then we will plan on how we are going to make the graphics, gameplay, story line, music, etc. As of when and where we will do this, well do this anytime we have time to spend and anywhere we can but following the schedule we made. Although me and Amadeo are going to learn how to use python scripting first before even starting to make the game. Once that's done its on to the creation process.
